

Annual Fall Food Drive a Success

This year, due in part to the economic downturn in the United States and around the world, food banks like the RI Community Food Bank are experiencing higher demand than normal. To try to ease some of the need of fellow Rhode Islanders this winter and holiday season, KVH held its annual fall food drive early, so that the donation could be delivered to the food bank in time for Thanksgiving distribution. Thanks to employees challenging one another to help their neighbors as much as possible, the final donation was a huge box full of nonperishable food items, as well as $545 in cash. Nice work!
